

Single-cell Analysis with Droplet Microfluidics

David A. WEITZ

Harvard School of Engineering and Applied Sciences, Harvard University, USA

Email: weitz@seas.harvard.edu

This talk will describe the use of droplet microfluidics to study single cells. Several different types of measurements will be reported to determine both genotypic and phenotypic information with very high precision.