

IAS PROGRAM

High Energy Physics

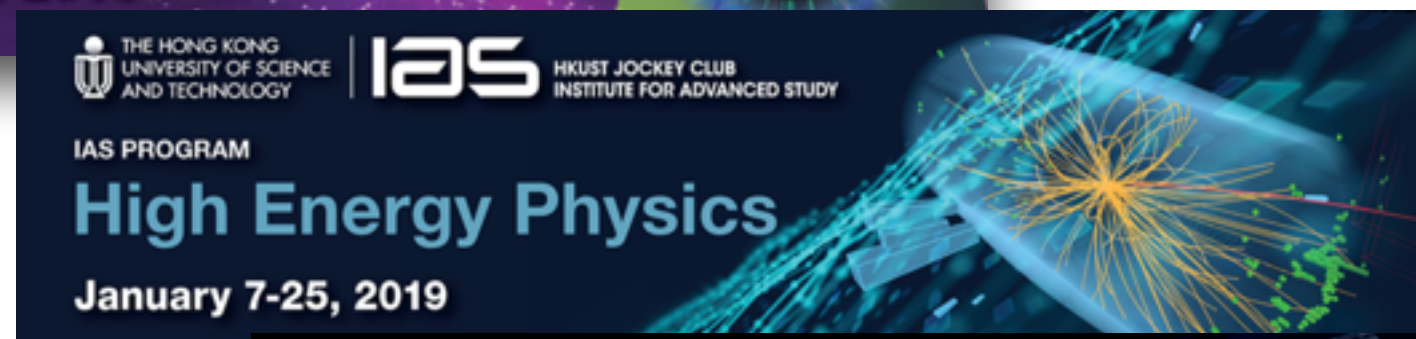

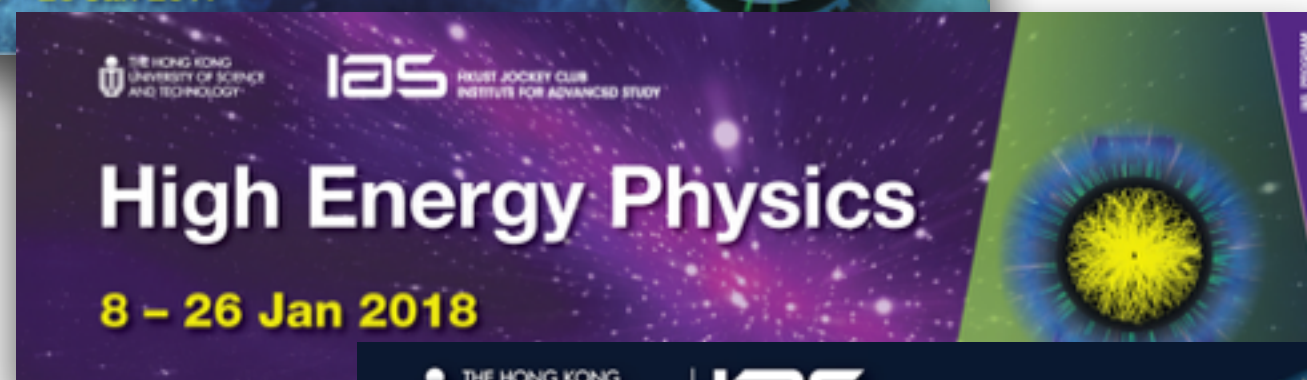

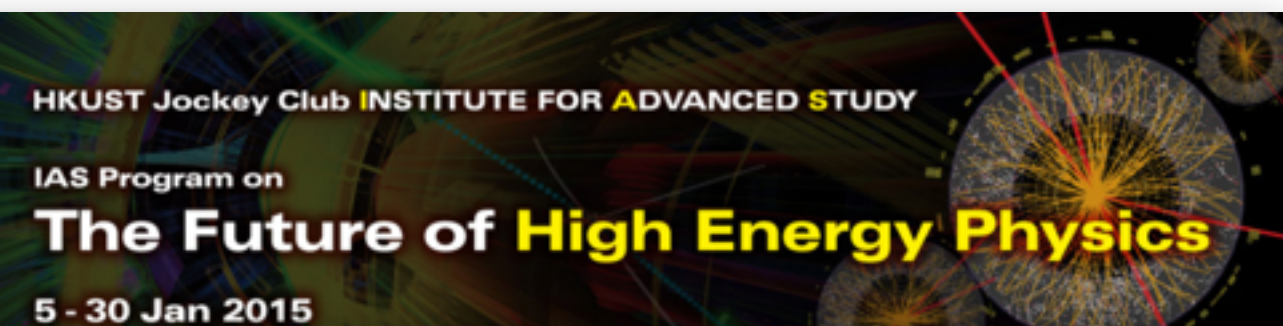

January 6-24, 2020

Co-sponsors

Croucher Foundation

The program and conference are partially supported by a grant from the Croucher Foundation, the Research Grants Council's Area of Excellence Scheme, the School of Science and the Department of Physics, HKUST.

2020 HEP Program - White Papers

A citable source of reference material, based on the conference and program presentations and discussions.

Materials of the last three editions of the IAS HEP Program were published by World Scientific as special editions of the Submission of 2020 White papers:

- Submission details: <http://iasprogram.ust.hk/hep/2019/activities.php>
- Deadline for title and abstract submission: March 3, 2019
- If interested, please contact the editors: Luis Flores Castillo <Luis.Flores.Castillo@cern.ch>, Kirill Prokofiev <kprok@ust.hk> and Yanjun Tu <yanjuntu@hku.hk>.

Organizing Committee for the Program

Andrew G. COHEN (Chair)

*The Hong Kong University of Science and Technology
(IAS Director and Lam Woo Foundation Professor)*

John ELLIS

*CERN and King's College London
(IAS Senior Visiting Fellow)*

Xinchou LOU

Institute of High Energy Physics, Chinese Academy

Kam-Biu LUK

*The University of California, Berkeley and The Hong Kong
University of Science and Technology
(IAS Senior Visiting Fellow)*

Qing QIN

Institute of High Energy Physics, Chinese Academy

Henry TYE

*The Hong Kong University of Science and Technology
(IAS Professor)*

Theory - Future Prospects for Particle Physics, Astro-particle
Physics and Cosmology:

Roberto FRANCESCHINI

Roma Tre University

Tao LIU

The Hong Kong University of Science and Technology

Experiment / Detector - Software and Physics Requirements for e^+e^- Colliders:

Paolo GIACOMELLI

National Institute for Nuclear Physics (INFN, Bologna)

Joao GUIMARAES DA COSTA

Institute of High Energy Physics, Chinese Academy of Sciences

Accelerator - Machine

Jie GAO

Institute of High Energy Physics, Chinese Academy of Sciences

Michael KORATZINOS
